AFTER TAGGART IS W. R. HEARSTInvades Indiana With His Independence League."Bosses Must Go," Declares Ish-wood, His Oracle of Delphi for Hoosier State.

WHAT THE MOVEMENT MEANS

Delphi, Ind., Oct. 16.—William R. Hearst will open political headquarters in Indianapolis and the fight to wrest Indiana from the control of the "bosses" and to capture it for Hearst will then begin in earnest. Richard M. Isherwood, of Delphi, will move down to Indianapolis, take charge of headquarters, and direct the battle that is to be waged in the Hoosier state in behalf of Hearst and reform. The headquarters will be maintained in the name of the Independence League. Tom Taggart and his followers will have to watch out or the Hearst goblin will be sure to get them.

Once before, William R. Hearst had political headquarters in Indianapolis. That was during the spring and the early summer of 1904, when he was trying to secure a delegation from Indiana to the Democratic national convention. His headquarters that year was in a palatial suite of rooms in the Claypool hotel. He spared no expense, and there was constantly about the headquarters a retinue of hangers-on, who had read about the "Hearst barrel" and were anxious to tap it. The Hearst campaign that year was conducted on a scale of magnificence.

Mr. Isherwood today threw off the reserve which he has heretofore assumed when questioned about Hearst's movements in Indiana and told all about the Independence League and its aims and purposes in this state. It is quite evident that the league will overlook no opportunity to boost Hearst for president, and there will soon be music in the air in the Indiana Democratic camp. "It is impossible," said Mr. Isherwood, "for me to state exactly the number of members that the Independence League now has in Indiana because a good many of the membership blanks have not been returned, but we probably have between 6,000 and 7,000 members in the state outside of Marion county."

"One object of our organization is to put the bosses of all parties out of business. In Indiana, the Democratic party is the most vulnerable because it is the most boss-ridden. Under its present leadership, the party has been bound and gagged by tricky primaries and snap conventions. It is our purpose to protect the people against candidates who have no interest in running for office, except to serve their political masters. In Indiana the Democrats, unlike the Republicans, have no rules governing primaries and preliminary conventions for the selection of delegates. A set of such rules was adopted when Ebenezer Henderson was state chairman, away back in the eighties, but they were lost long ago, and there is no regularly whatever about the selection of Democratic delegates. This gives the bosses a free hand, and it is a notorious fact that corporation lawyers are often selected as delegates to Democratic conventions, leaving the people without representation."

HIS FLESH IS TORN

At Veneer Plant.Engines Stopped in Time to Save Life of Man Whose Overalls Caught in Wheels.

RIGHT LEG TO BE AMPUTATED.

With the flesh torn from the bone of his leg from thigh to ankle, and maimed for life Anthony Bacon, a colored laborer at the Paducah Veneer and Lumber company, was yesterday afternoon taken from a mass of cog wheels at the plant just in time to save him from a horrible death. His screams of agony as he was being drawn into the mass of sharp toothed cogs acted as a warning, and the machinery was stopped instantly.

Bacon was working near the cogs when a frayed portion of his overalls on the right leg caught in the cogs. He felt himself being pulled in. He cried out in agony several times, but before the machinery was stopped his leg had been drawn in.

The cogs ground the flesh to a pulp, stripping the leg nearly bare from the ankle to the thigh. In another few seconds the body would have been drawn into the machinery and death would have resulted.

Comrades rushed to the scene of the accident and found Bacon lying trembling and in a semi-conscious condition. Dr. Carl M. Sears was hastily summoned and removed the injured negro to his home on Hayes avenue where drugs were liberally used to ease the pain.

Dr. Sears stated this morning that he would have to amputate the limb. The patient is in a weak condition and may not survive the operation.

Companies Nos. 2 and 4, answered the alarm. The house was afire inside and partitions were easy barriers for the flames to break. Crippled Himself in Railroad Undoing the strings of her apron, filled with a good half bushel of coal, in order that she might run more freely a barefooted negro woman, who was chased out of the Illinois Central railroad yards by Special Officer Dick Tolbert yesterday, smashed her toe with a large chunk and fell, being unable to arise until the officer caught her. The woman evidently forgot that her feet were exposed to the deluge of coal and when she let her burden drop her fast forward moving pedal extremities were bruised in a pitiful manner. The officer sent her away with a warning.

CONSPICUOUSLY

Not Greet McCreary.Dave Cross Looks In During Speech
and Watches the Crowd—Veterans Attend.

SENATOR WARNS DEMOCRACY

Members of the local Democratic organization were conspicuously absent from the meeting addressed last night by Senator J. B. McCreary in the Kentucky theater. Dave Cross, candidate for city judge, who served as a member of the reception committee to Governor Beckham and sat upon the platform with him, dropped in during the speech last night and stood up in the rear, apparently sizing up the crowd.

There were a number of Confederate veterans on the stage, and in the boxes and sprinkled through the house were daughters of the Confederacy, special guests of the occasion.

The theater was filled down stairs.

Senator McCreary was introduced by Judge Reed, of the circuit court, in a characteristically able speech. Judge Reed dwelt on the senator's record of service to the Confederacy and the Democratic party.

The crowd demonstrated its pleasure at the doctrines enunciated by frequent applause.

Like Governor Beckham, Senator McCreary deplored the necessity of this bitter factional strife in the Democratic party, and he, like the governor, warned his constituents that the "Republicans will get them, if they don't watch out," and stop wrangling. Only he didn't agree with Governor Beckham as to who is to blame for the situation.

Machine rule and bossism ran through the refrain of Senator McCreary's speech, and he told of the overthrow of the organization in Maryland, Ohio and Missouri, and predicted an overthrow of what he calls the machine, and Governor Beckham calls the administration, in Kentucky.

He took up Governor Beckham's administration and accused it of extravagance and a service devoted exclusively to strengthening its hold on the party organization. He said 31 new offices were created by the legislature and the salaries of 11 increased. The office creating he said first furnished Percy Haly a new job, while Ed Leigh, of Paducah, the governor's private secretary, was the first to reap the benefit of an increase in salary. He charged extravagance in the capitol contract, disloyalty in the defeat of Jo Blackburn and accused them of attempting to remove him in order to completely encompass their design of ridding the state of all save administration adherents.

Senator McCreary said it is customary to give the senator, at least, a second term and he relies on the party to thus honor him.

He proved by figures that Kentucky is too close a state for any party to quarrel in, and said that if two Democrats in every precinct should become disgusted and refrain from voting it would throw the state Republican.

Before his speech last night Senator McCreary held a levee in the Palmer house. He went to Murray today.

SAM JONES' LIFE AND ECCENTRICITY

Lawyer, Drunkard, Preacher, Evangelist.

Evolution of Man Who Yielded to Temptation and Found His Sphere.

ORIGINATED PULPIT SLANG.

Samuel Porter Jones, the evangelist who died yesterday was born in Chambers county, Ala., October 16, 1847. The family removed to Cartersville, Ga., in 1859. Mr. Jones first studied for the law, being educated under private tutors at a boarding school.

He was admitted to the Georgia bar in 1869, with the brightest prospects, but broke down in health from nervous dyspepsia and took to drink. This ended his career as a lawyer, and for a time it seemed that he would become a hopeless wreck.

In 1872, the turning point in his life came when he professed religion and joined the Methodist church.

The same year he became a clergyman, entering the North Georgia conference. He held various charges in this conference for eight years, and then became agent of the North Georgia Orphanage, a post he held twelve years.

In the meantime Mr. Jones' vigorous and original style of preaching had attracted attention far beyond the bounds of his conference and he soon had a reputation all over the south. He departed from the customary style of the ministers and emphasized his sermons with homely illustrations and telling phrase. He believed in calling a spade a spade and in attacking evils and abuses he was sparing of no one.

For the past twelve years he had devoted practically all his time to evangelistic work, visiting all parts of the country. He held revival meetings in every city of importance in the United States, and in the summer he visited the different chautauques. Wherever he went he was certain of an audience as great as the edifice in which he was to preach could hold.

Married Kentucky Woman.

Mr. Jones married Miss Laura Henry of Henry county, Ky. For many years they had a summer home near Eminence. Mr. and Mrs. Jones frequently visited friends in Kentucky with their daughters, Miss Julia Jones and Mrs. Laura Sloan. Mr. Jones is survived by his wife and several children.

The last time Mr. Jones conducted a revival meeting in Louisville was in 1898, when tent services were held to large audiences.

Last summer he was heard at the New Albany Chautauque.

To a Louisville man, J. M. Caldwell, belongs the credit of making Evangelist Jones a speaker of national fame.

Mr. Caldwell was formerly president and general manager of the Southern Lyceum Bureau. In this capacity he heard of Sam Jones in 1898. An offer of $100 a night to lecture on the platforms of the bureau over the country was accepted by Mr. Jones. His fame spread like wild fire, and within a few weeks his remuneration was increased to $200 a night. During the first year Mr. Jones earned $17,000.

On his fiftieth birthday Mr. Jones tendered an elaborate banquet to his friends among the clergy of the south. Mr. Caldwell was the only layman at the affair and sat at Mr. Jones' right.

Suddenly Disappeared.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 16.—"Sam" Jones, the evangelist, had been holding revival services in the Tabernacle in this city for two weeks. He was to have addressed audiences

Sunday, but it developed early in the day that he had disappeared. Although vigorous search was made for him, nothing was learned as to the whereabouts of the evangelist until news was received today of his death on a train car near Little Rock. It is believed that he was taken ill and left for home forgetting to notify the local committee.

Later it developed that Jones left the city hurriedly hastening from his hotel to the station while a carriage waited to convey him to the evening services. No reason for his sudden departure was given; nor did he state his destination.

First Preacher to Use Slang.

Sam Jones sprang into wide fame about 1884, when he began preaching in a big circus tent at Nashville. Mr. Jones preached morning, afternoon and night. He was the first man to use slang in the pulpit, and he illustrated every point with a pat saying.

On the morning of his first sermon in Nashville Mr. Jones marched down the platform with his black moustache bristling up to his eyebrows. A wave of applause greeted him. He bowed profoundly and a choir of 100 began to sing. Mr. Jones joined in the chorus when the hymn was finished and gave his big audience a shock.

"How many women are there in the crowd who did not look into a mirror before they left home?" inquired Mr. Jones.

The audience almost stopped breathing. Such a remark from the pulpit had never been heard before. The silence was intense.

Finally an old woman neatly dressed in black arose and said:

"I didn't, brother Jones."

"Well, you must not have a looking-glass," quickly responded the evangelist. The crowd roared, and Mr. Jones announced his text.

O, TOODLES!

FROLICKED IN YARD WHEN HE GOT HIS CLOTHES OFF.

But Big Dog, Who Didn't Know the License Inspector, Cut Short
His Outing.

It is said that some people lead a dog's life, yet had some of those poor, unfortunates witnessed what attaches of the Paducah postoffice saw this morning, they would probably not object so strenuously to being the dog. Leading by a gold chain a small, black, rat terrier securely protected from the weather by blue pads and pantaloons a member of the "Simple Simon Simple" company made her way to the lawn of the postoffice yard. She carefully unfastened the dog's dress, unhooked the chain and let him go.

The little canine ran madly from one end of the yard to the other. But his frolic was cut short by the sudden appearance of a big half bull and cur rover. The mistress grabbed up her dear, little pet and cuddled it up in her arms. She repaired hastily to the hotel to bathe and redress her pet.

Real Estate and Insurance

Have You
Property to Sell?
If So Place It With Us

We have, after a good deal of hard work and study, perfected an organization to sell real estate in Paducah and West Kentucky that should, in all reason, prove very effective.

The business will receive personal attention of competent real estate men—men who know how to close a deal, and to get a proper price; who don't sit around our office and wait for customers to come in, but on the other hand get out and see personally people whom we know are interested in buying property.

Then, too, we have appropriated a liberal amount for advertising all property placed with us, which is very important for any agency.

We would like to talk to you personally, if you have any property to sell, and show you why it is to your interest to place your property with us.

HOW HARCOURT'S GOT LOUIS' HEART

Took It Across Channel Until Trouble Was Over.

Bankrupts Are Deprived of Certain Political Rights in English Parliament.

KISSING BIBLE UNHEALTHFUL

London, Oct. 16.—The fact does not appear in the guide books, nor is the story told in any of the numerous works that have been written about the noblest temple of worship in England; but a friend gives me a weird tale about the heart of Louis XIV., the greatest king of France, being buried in Westminster Abbey. He got the gruesome facts from the late Sir William Harcourt, the liberal leader, whose widow is an American the daughter of Mr. Motley, the historian.

The Harcourts it seems, had many French connections, who fled to England for refuge during the French revolution. Among them was a canon of the cathedral of St. Denis, the royal mausoleum of France, where fifty kings and queens are buried in rows of tombs. When he was about leaving the Harcourt mansion to return to his home across the channel, the canon expressed the gratitude of himself and two or three of his associates who had enjoyed the hospitality of his host and produced from his pocket something that looked like a piece of leather.

"I was in the cathedral at St. Denis when the royal tombs were broken open by the mob," he said, "and the ashes of the kings were scattered to the winds. This," and he held up the insignificant-looking object, "is the heart of Louis Quatorze, which was kept in an urn on the top of his sarcophagus. I managed to save it and would like to leave it with you until affairs are entirely tranquil in France."

But the abbe never called for his strange memento.

Bankrupts Ineligible.

Bankrupts, men who cannot pay their debts, are not eligible to the British parliament, and, if they become insolvent after election, they must resign. Nor can a bankrupt sit or vote in the house of lords, or in any committee thereof, nor can he be elevated to the peerage, nor can he be elected as a peer of Scotland or Ireland. If a hereditary peer of Scotland becomes bankrupt his seat is vacated until he pays his debts, and in case of a representative peer a new election is held.

Stop Kissing Bible.

An agitation is going on in England against compelling witnesses to kiss the cover of a Bible in court. It is shown that the same copies of the scriptures have been used for a generation for this purpose and the doctors say that they have undoubtedly been the means of communicating disease. The medical associations have again and again recommended the adoption of some other method of pledging a witness, and the lawyers admit that the kissing of a Bible does not make the slightest difference with the testimony of a man who is willing to commit perjury.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"Simple Simon Simple" Tonight.

There are many pretty dances in Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman's new cartoon, musical extravaganza, "Simple Simon Simple," which comes to The Kentucky tonight. Among the most attractive may be mentioned the ballet of the nursery rhymes in act two. This pretty dance is opened by Mother Hubbard who first ascends to Simon's room and puts him to sleep by the use of her magic wand. She then summons her minions, the first being Little Miss Muffet, who does a solo dance, which is most dainty, after which Jack and Jill are introduced and do a characteristic jig. Little Boy Blue and his sweetheart, Bo Peep, now appear in response to Mother Goose's summons and after a short gavotte are joined by Peter Pumpkin Eater and Red Riding Hood. The whole number ends with a brisk gallop which takes the Mother Goose party off in a whirl of applause. An acrobatic dance by Lillian C. Welp in the character of Simon and Bessie Browning as Hulda is also one of the features of act two.

Tim Murphy Tomorrow.

In "Old Innocence," the play to be given by Tim Murphy at The Kentucky on Wednesday night, this splendid comedian is seen at his best and his revival once again shows him in a character in which he is most ably suited. The impersonation of "Jason Green" by Mr. Murphy is unquestionably one of the most interesting character studies presented to theatergoers in many years, for it has the charm of a distinctive individuality.

and the emphasis of a conception that is entirely his own. Mr. Murphy has before scored in the part, for it was some seasons ago the most pronounced success in his large repertoire, and at that time was conceded to be one of the most artistic and praiseworthy undertakings he had made. His revival of "Old Innocence" has been made with every attention and his supporting company has been most carefully chosen. Among his players will be Dorothy Sherrod, Louise Whitfield, Mrs. Aubrey Powell, O. J. Griffin, as well as other clever assistants in minor parts. The costumes and other accessories are of the best.

Hugo in Melodrama.

It is not entirely easy to take "The Law and the Man," which Wilton Lackaye produces with all the seriousness it should receive. It is such a rip-roaring melodrama that much of it impresses as funny, and the risibles of the habitual theatergoer are dangerously tickled. But Mr. Lackaye is known to have worked long and enthusiastically on this version of Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables," the production that really has been given the play is lively, even if it be in some things peculiar, and the undertaking clearly is an earnest attempt to transfer creditably to the stage the story contained in one of the world's literary masterpieces.

"The Law and the Man," as a whole, can be understood and enjoyed as well by the playgoer who has not read "Les Misérables" as by the one who has. In fact, the former will have his emotions roused if he be susceptible to melodramatic intensity, and he will not be bothered by any thought concerning the cutting and slicing that has been done to the tions as Fantine and Cosette, and Miss Harris did a really neat bit of work as Eponine. Mr. Lamp was a good looking Marius and when he takes his hands will be more than acceptable.

A Memphis Opinion.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal says:

"It was a truly delighted audience which left the Lyceum theater last night after witnessing the performance of 'The Toast of the Town,' with Jane Kennark as Betty Singleton, the principal role of the Clyde Fitch plays, a comedy in four acts, which was given here a year ago with Viola Allen in the part to which Miss Kennark succeeded, and that too, with such signal credit to herself."

"The production in which Miss Kennark is appearing is the same as that in which Miss Allen was seen here last season. The company supporting Miss Kennark includes Lilla Vane, Bertha Livingston, Clarke Welton, Carl Anthony, Herman Lieb, Maurice W. Stuart, Warren Dahler, Nat Lemingwell, John Warren, Littleton McGruder, Ralph Beales and Frank George."

"Miss Kennark is finished in what she does; many consider her superior to Miss Allen in the Fitch play, for the reason that the role of Betty Singleton fits her more perfectly than it did Miss Allen. At any rate, she is truly charming in the part and the audience went away last night feeling better for having attended the performance."

Four things a man must learn to do if he would make his record true; To think without confusion clearly; To love his fellow-men sincerely; To act from honest motives purely; To trust in God and heaven securely. —Henry Van Dyke.

Hands Off.

The worst of the sportive style in news writing is that it sometimes leads to misunderstanding. The London correspondent of a Manchester paper sent the other day a humorous account of the renewing of the hands of the great clock of parliament. It ran thus:

"A well-known character, who has lived in Westminster all his life and is familiarly known to many Londoners as 'Ben,' underwent a serious operation this morning."

"As Westminster hospital was too full to allow of him having a bed, the operation was carried out by two doctors in the 'on air,' and in the presence of a large crowd."

"Both of Ben's hands were taken off—successfully and rapidly. A new pair will be provided for him."

This seemed a curious but by no means an amusing bit of intelligence to the Manchester staff of the paper. They put it in a prominent position among the day's painful occurrences, next to a paragraph about 'Maniac Kills Seven' and gave it the following headline: "Operation in the Open Air—Big Crowd Watched Man's Hands Taken Off."

Which proves that it is, even in these frivolous times, still possible to be funny. —London Daily News.

Guilty Conscience.

"Let a man be only half or three-quarters square, as most of us are, and he fears less a regiment of soldiers with a galling gun pounder in the hand on the 'dure bell' than a ray of light on the 'Power of the Press' in the American Magazine for October."

The police of New York City arrest, on an average, 516 persons each day.

The Ideal City.

A city with clean streets, well-sprinkled streets, streets lined with well-kept-for shade trees. Streets and roads that are freed from billboards that are a stench in the community.

Vacant lots now used as dumping places turned into attractive squares. Benches along the roadside for weary pedestrians.

Back yards that are visions of beauty instead of eyesores.

Window boxes that brighten dull walls and recreation piers on the banks of the river.

All these make for patriotism as well as for civic beauty and righteousness.

If it is true that the boy without a playground is father to the man without a job, we may shrink from looking into their future. Boys and girls are turned loose on the streets; mischief, vice and crime result, and when these conditions become unbearable we turn to the curfew as a negative means of dealing with conditions that ought never to have existed. —Exchange.

Disgraceful Deficiencies.

It is a disgrace— To half do things. Not to develop our possibilities. To be lazy, indolent, indifferent. To do poor, slipshod, botched work. To give a bad example to young people.

To have crude, brutish, repulsive manners. To hide a talent because you have only one. To live a half life when a whole life is possible.

Not to be scrupulously clean in person and surroundings. To acknowledge a fault and make no effort to overcome it.

To be ungrateful to friends and to those who have helped us. To go through life a pygmy when nature intended you to be a giant.

To kick over the ladder upon which we have climbed to our position. To be grossly ignorant in these days of the usages of good society. —Success.

Not Happily Expressed.

Old Gentleman—So you are anxious to become my son-in-law? Young Man—Yes, sir. So much so, in fact, that I am willing to marry your daughter. —November Smart Set.

A Short Cut.

Overdriven, overworked, when what it needs is something that will digest the food eaten and help the stomach to recuperate. Something like Kodol for Dyspepsia that is sold by Lang Bros.

Anxiously Waiting.

Blanche—Poor Helen! Has the worst been told? Grace—I think not. They're all waiting for your version. —November Smart Set.

A cold is much more easily cured when the bowels are open. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar opens the bowels and drives the cold out of the system in young or old. Sold by Lang Bros.

Hard to Understand.

Bibbs—Some people get everything they go after. Gibbs—Yes, and others don't seem to get what's coming to them. —November Smart Set.

True and tried friends of the family—DeWitt's Little Early Risers. Best for results and best to take. Dependable little pills. They do not gripe or sicken. Sold by Lang Bros.

A Common Mistake.

Gilmore—How did you begin your downward course? DeWitt—I began at the top, of course. Did you think I began at the bottom? —November Smart Set.

"Simple Simon Simple," at The Kentucky Tonight.

Victor Hugo masterwork. Mr. Lackaye works hard and earnestly in the role of Valjean. He is not advantageously cast, however for the benignity of goodness and of saintly forbearance and gentleness does not lie easily within the range of his assertive, robust style.

Mr. MacDowell was a Javert of sufficiently sinister mien to frighten any criminal, and he let no opportunity for melodramatic intensity escape him.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. ANDREWS MEET

Convenes in Memphis Next Thursday For Four Days.

Important Gathering and First Time
It Has Been Held in the South.

SPECIAL TRAIN IS CHARTERED

One of the greatest church gatherings of this year will be that of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, of the Protestant Episcopal church, which meets for its twenty-first annual convention in Memphis on Thursday next. The sessions of the convention will last through the following Sunday. The program prepared for the coming convention is a strong one, and from the opening service on Sunday night, the interest and enthusiasm should not flag a minute. The program includes many of the most forcible and earnest speakers of the church in this country. Bishop Kinsolving, of Texas, and Bishop Gallor, of Tennessee, are among those that will be heard. Bishop Woodcock, of Kentucky, will be one of the speakers at a great mass meeting to be held in the Bijou theater on Sunday afternoon, his subject being, "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" The crowning event of the convention will, as heretofore, be the annual corporate communion service of the Brotherhood, which will be held in Grace church at 7 a. m. on Saturday. At this service more than a thousand men kneel together at the Lord's table and together renew their pledges of prayer and service to the Great Captain whom they serve.

This will be the first convention ever held in the heart of the south, and the indications point to a large enthusiastic and helpful meeting. The Memphis brotherhood men have made great preparation and there will be a display of hospitality such as the brotherhood has never seen.

A special train will carry the Louisville delegates and others from Kentucky to Memphis. Dr. R. A. Hicks will go from Grace Episcopal church, Paducah, and possibly others of the order here.

Members of College Discuss Subject
Among Themselves Without

Rome, Oct. 16.—In spite of the fact that the pope is enjoying perfect health, the matter of the possible result of the next conclave, whenever it does occur, is being discussed even among the cardinals themselves, and this with no desire to anticipate the end or to be disrespectful to the pontiff. In view of the vatican's experience with France, the cry this time will be not for a merely religious pope but a political pope; not for a saint, but for a statesman.

Even the strongest opponents of three years ago of Cardinal Rampolla now favor his election. Rampolla failed in 1903 chiefly because he was vetoed by Cardinal Puyana. In the name of Austria, speaking for the entire triple alliance.

"Remember," said the political adviser, "that consistency is a few el." "Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "but these days a lavish display of jewelry is not considered polite."—Washington Star.

Allowed Mob to Hang Negro, With Habeas Corpus Case in Federal Tribunal.

IS INTERESTING TO LAWYERS

Washington, Oct. 16.—Attorneys for John F. Shipp, the sheriff of Hamilton county, Tennessee, and twenty-six others will appear before the United States supreme court tomorrow morning in order to try to prevent their punishment for contempt of the supreme court in allowing the negro, Ed Johnson, to be lynched in Chattanooga last February.

The case is regarded with unusual interest not only by the people of the southern states, but by the legal fraternity in general, no other case of a similar kind having ever come before the supreme court. Not the least interesting feature will be the line of defense conducted by Shipp's attorneys, of whom the principal one is former Attorney General Judson Harmon.

It is believed here that the line of defense adopted will be, in the main, to insist that Shipp and his deputies, being employees of the state of Tennessee, should be punished for any alleged crimes under the laws of the state of Tennessee. In other words, that the offense was not against the United States supreme court. Lawyers, who have been following the case and take this view, declare that the circuit court, in which the petition for habeas corpus was filed, had no right to inquire into the matter but only the supreme court of Tennessee could take cognizance of it; that the negro, Johnson, in applying for a writ of habeas corpus was trying to get a review from the circuit court instead of the proper authority—the Tennessee supreme court.

Hearst's Corporation.

Candidate Hughes coined a telling phrase in Brooklyn Saturday night when he said: "We do not want government by headlines." He struck a blow that hurt when he told the Brooklynites the story of how Hearst, the fiery denouncer of corporations, wriggled out of paying a judgment of $25,000—in favor of a young married woman whom one of his delivery wagons knocked down and run over—by hiring David B. Hill to convince the court of appeals that the New York Journal was the property of a corporation and not of William Randolph Hearst. "What," asked Candidate Hughes, "is the sincerity of a man who will talk indiscriminately against corporations and use in his business a corporation to shield him from liability?"—Hartford Courant.

The Wrong Knee.

The late archbishop of Canterbury was for many years fearful of a stroke of paralysis.

Seated at the right of Countess T— at a brilliant banquet, he startled the guests by arising and remarking:

"Brethren, it has come at last—that which I have feared for forty years—a stroke of paralysis. I have been pinching my knee for the last twenty minutes and can't find the least sensation there."

"Pardon me," said the countess, "but it was my knee you were pinching."

BRAZEN BELL

WOULD BE BETTER NAME THAN BROKEN BELL.

Divorcees and Divorcants Form Club in New York and Have Good Time.

New York, Oct. 16.—Out of the divorce dinner given last night by Mrs. Sophia Florence Diessenger to celebrate the awarding of the decree which marks her permanent separation from Albert Diessenger, a Wall street broker, has grown the Broken Wedding Bell association. Mrs. Diessenger's guests were so delighted with the dinner and the entertainment that they are determined to have a permanent organization.

Mrs. Diessenger's dinner was unique and it was not ended until early morning. Nearly all the guests had undergone experiences similar to those of the hostess, and many were the sad stories of experiences with "brutes," "monsters," "fends in human shape," "deceiving wretches" and "heartless brutes."

James P. McQuade, father of the hostess, who himself went through the courts successfully was a happy guest, but feared he would become ineligible to membership, as he contemplated another experiment in matrimony.

Statisticians at the dinner said afterward that South Dakota and

Rhode Island were about evenly represented, while Pittsburgh appeared to lead in point of nativity.

Wood Makes Plea.

Washington, Oct. 16.—An argument against the reduction in the number of troops in the Philippines is made by Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, commanding that division, in his annual report. The total garrison on June 30 last numbered 20,043 men.

"We are far from home," says Gen. Wood, "and in case of foreign disturbance, even with all our troops concentrated at Manila, the force available would be barely sufficient to defend it from serious attack. Moreover, the strong garrison should be maintained here until conditions pertaining to the civil government are well established and the animosities and disappointments incident to the building up of a local government under new and perhaps strained conditions have passed away."

Discriminating Patriotism.

When Charles Dudley Warner was a newspaper editor in the early '60s he was accustomed to write his editorials upon the war with fervid hate, regardless of all consideration of handwriting.

One day a typesetter left the composing room and appeared at the editor's desk.

"Mr. Warner," he said, "I've decided to enlist in the army."

With mingled emotions of pride and responsibility Mr. Warner replied that it pleased him that the man felt the call to duty.

"Oh, it isn't that," said the truthful compositor "but I'd rather be shot than set your copy."—Pittsburg

Press.

Only a Trifle Gone!

The editor of a paper in western Indiana declares it to be a fact that a "cub" reporter on an Evansville sheet, in describing the murder of a man in an adjacent town, wired his paper as follows:

"Murderer evidently in quest of money. Luckily Jones had deposited all his funds in the bank day before, so that he lost nothing but his life."

"Success Magazine."

Mrs. W. had been very earnest in teaching her Sunday school class all about the "Story of the Prodigal

Son." One point she made especially clear to her interesting little group of listeners, and that was the mean disposition which the elder brother

showed when he "would not go in."

"Now children," she said, "in the midst of all this rejoicing that the prodigal son had returned to his home again there was one that was quite unhappy. While the others were delighted and glad, he was sad,

and who was he?"

There was a brief pause. Then a little hand went up.

"Well, Freddie Smart, who was

it?"

"The 'fattest calf,'" promptly exclaimed Freddie.—Exchange.

Fashionable Mother.—Now, I

don't want to make any mistake.

You say this jar is the cream for Fi-do? Milkman.—Yes, ma'am. Fashionable Mother.—And this is the milk

for baby?—Somerville Journal.

"Just before poor old Dooley died

he made his wife promise that she would not marry again."

"Poor old chap—he always was kind to his fellow-men."—Tit-Bits.

NO WORD

PERRY'S EXPEDITION IS BOUND UP BY ICE.

Hope of Hearing From Him This Winter is Abandoned By His Friends.

New York, Oct. 16.—The middle of October having been reached, the time set for receiving news from the Peary expedition, hope practically was abandoned, tonight of hearing this year from the band of explorers which sailed from this port fifteen months ago. If Peary has decided to spend a second winter in the arctic circle, it was expected that news would come from the expedition through the whalers when they sail into Dundee, Scotland, at the end of their cruises.

The whalers have failed to come into port and this is taken that unusual weather conditions prevail in the arctic, and that the entire fleet has been caught in the ice. This proving true, it is probable that the Peary steamer Roosevelt may not have been able to get out of the ice at all this summer, and that Peary, after making his successful dash and returning to his ship, was compelled to go into winter quarters.

PARIS MOB

UNDERTAKES TO RUN RACE TRACK TO SUIT ITSELF.

Free Handicap Sunday Afternoon Displeased Patrons, Who Took All the Money.

Paris, Oct. 16.—There were violent public demonstrations at the Long Champs race course Sunday afternoon in consequence of an unsatisfactory start in the free handicap. The trouble culminated in riots, pillage and incendiarism. Many persons were arrested.

The program comprised six races and the first two passed off without incident. There were nine starters in the free handicap, the next event, and four, including the favorite, were left at the post. Amid a terrific uproar a complete outsider won. The public immediately became enraged, broke down the barriers, and invaded the track. Crowds demanded the return of their bets. They surrounded the bookmakers' booths, chased out the cashiers, and seized the money.

A Long Ride Cheap.

The American tramp must look out for his laurels in the matter of stealing rides. A Roumanian recently succeeded in lodging himself on the pipes underneath a dining car of the Orient Express at Costanza, on the Black Sea, these pipes affording a sort of a shelf twenty inches wide. He left his bed in Paris 53 hours later. It is remarked that at the end of the journey he was very dusty, hungry and thirsty, and possessed a capital amounting to 5 cents.—Indianapolis News.

She Could.

"I was weeding—aw—an account of a woman being hooked to death by a beastly cow, doncher know," remarked young Dundeigh. "Weally, I cawn't imagine a more how-wible affair—can you, Miss Caustique?"

"No, Mr. Dundeigh," replied Miss Caustique, "unless it is being bored to death by a calf."

And when she illustrated her remark with a large, open-faced yawn, young Dundeigh proceeded to get a hurry on himself.—London Tit-Bits.

COPYRIGHT, 1894, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"It is very kind of you to put it in that way," said Jocelyn. "But I should not like you to sacrifice yourself to what may be a foolish prejudice on my part."

"It is not a foolish prejudice, Durnovo is not a gentleman, either by birth or inclination. He is not fit to associate with you."

To this Jocelyn answered nothing. Victor Durnovo was one of her brother's closest friends; a friend of his own choosing.

"Miss Gordon," said Meredith suddenly, with a gravity that was rare, "will you do me a favor?"

"I think I should like to."

"You admit that you are afraid of Durnovo now; if at any time you have reason to be more afraid, will you make use of me? Will you write or come to me and ask my help?"

"Thank you," she said hesitatingly. "You see," he went on in a lighter tone, "I am not afraid of Durnovo. I have met Durnovo before. You may have observed that my looks no longer resemble the raven's wing. There is a little gray, just here, above the temple. I am getting on in life, and I know how to deal with Durnovo."

"I might have been a criminal or an escaped embezzler."

"Do you know," she said, after a little silence, "that I was actually thinking of warning you against Mr. Durnovo? Now I stand agast at my own presumption."

"It was kind of you to give the matter any thought whatever."

He rose and threw away the end of his cigar. Joseph was already before the door, leading the horse which Maurice Gordon had placed at his visitor's disposal.

CHAPTER X.

THE short equatorial twilight was drawing to an end, and all nature stood in silence, while night crept up to claim the land where her reign is more autocratic than elsewhere on earth. There was a black night above the trees, and a blacker beneath.

A sportsman was abroad. He was creeping up the right hand bank of a stream, his only chance lying in the noise of the waters which might serve to drown the sound of broken twig or rustling leaf.

This sportsman was Jack Meredith, and it was evident that he was bringing to bear upon the matter in hand that intelligence and keenness of perception which had made him a person of some prominence in other scenes where nature has a less assured place.

Since sunset he had been awaiting, scrambling, stumbling up the bank of this stream in relentless pursuit of some large animal which persistently kept hidden in the tangle across the bed of the river. The strange part of it was that when he stopped to peep through the branches the animal stopped, too, and he found no way of discovering its whereabouts.

TO COMPROMISE TELEPHONE CASE

Resolution is Adopted By Council Board.

Water Contract Ordinance Passed and Street Improvements Are Ordered.

BRICK INSPECTOR AUTHORIZED.

Last night the board of councilmen took steps to save the city thousands of dollars in the end if the example is followed by the upper board, and if the city solicitor and his assistant, Hal S. Corbett, are as successful as the former think they will be. This is in regard to the settlement of the threatened litigation between the city and the East Tennessee Telephone company. The solicitor was by resolution empowered to make any kind of compromise that would be fair to the city. The telephone company has given its attorneys the same authority.

Councilmen Herzog and Duval were absent.

The minutes of the last regular and called meetings were adopted.

A deed from Mrs. T. H. Puryear for 100 feet of property at Tenth street and Broadway, necessary to widen Tenth street from Broadway to Kentucky avenue, was ratified.

The board authorized the expenditure of $104 for the old street roller sold to the American Road Roller company as part payment for the new roller. The machine was ordered repaired. The road roller company failed recently and the trustees did not want to ship the old roller to the factory.

A resolution adopted by the Paducah Traction company directors to begin work within six months and finish in one year on the Nineteenth street car line in event the company purchases the franchise, was filed.

A petition from the board of public works for five electric lights in event any city light burns out, and for four dozen extra globes, was filed. The contract with the General Electrical company calls for but 200 lamps and no extra globes.

The board of public works asked that an ordinance be passed prohibiting horses standing on improved streets longer than a specified time. The council favorably acted in both cases.

The Caldwell Street Fill.

The Paducah Box and Basket company asked that a fill built last year to the plant at the end of Caldwell street across the railroad be graveled. The board of public works was ordered by the aldermanic board to gravel the fill.

Councilman Katterjohn said he favored the city securing a dedication of property and making it a street. He stated that he did not want to gravel the narrow fill, but to do the thing right.

The board refused to gravel the fill.

Mayor Yeiser stated that the city contracted with the owners of property on Jefferson street at Twenty-seventh street, to dedicate property necessary to improve the street and pay $50, but to be released from any other liability. The money was not paid and attorneys for contractors threaten to sue the city for it. The matter was referred.

The Telephone Tangle.

Solicitor James Campbell presented a resolution placing in the hands of Hal S. Corbett and himself the matter of settling the litigation in which the city and the East Tennessee Telephone company are engaged. This is to compel the company to take a franchise. The solicitor stated that Attorney C. K. Wheeler, of the telephone company, informed him he had authority to settle the matter for the company the best way he could. The solicitor stated that he wanted the same authority so as to meet Mr. Wheeler half way in any compromise suggested. The solicitor briefly stated that it would cost thousands, even if the city should win in the end. He promised to make an honorable compromise or progress with the law suit.

President McBroom stated that while he had the utmost confidence in the attorneys he did not think it advisable to place the power in the hands of the two attorneys with the council held responsible.

Councilman Hill said he thought like the president and moved that the compromise be subject to the ratification of the council.

The amendment to have the compromise subject to the ratification of the council was lost.

The motion to adopt the resolution carried. The rule was suspended and the resolution was given second passage.

The finance committee's report for bills, salaries, etc., for the first half month, $4,561.45, was received and filed.

The auditor's report for the year of 1906 to date, showing all money received and paid out, heretofore published, was received and filed.

Ordinances Acted On.

Ordinance for sidewalks on South Fourth street from Norton street to Husbands street. First reading.

Ordinance, amending an ordinance concerning the water supply, making a new contract with the Paducah Water company. Second reading.

Ordinance prohibiting the operation of "bucket shops" in Paducah after this year. Second reading.

Ordinance for improving Farley street by pavements in Mechanicsburg. Second reading.

A report from the light and water committee was received and filed.

Councilman Van Meter stated that he understood Caldwell street extended across the railroad to the Paducah box and basket factory, had been dedicated and he would like to see the fill graveled. There was a general discussion, and the second attempt to secure an ordinance for the improvement resulted in an order for the ordinance.

George Goodman & company, 108 North Second street, was granted a wholesale beer license.

City Engineer Washington was asked to make an estimate per square foot the cost of installing sewers in district No. 2. He said this is an impossibility because the charter does not provide that sewers be paid for by the square foot. It was stated that persons had been reporting it would cost from $5 to $6 per foot. The engineer said he would look it up, but would say he knew the cost would not come near this figure.

Several deeds and transfers of lots in Oak Grove cemetery were ratified. Councilman Crandle stated that gutters on Goebel avenue are in bad shape. He asked, in behalf of the residents and property owners, to have it remedied. The board of public works was ordered to repair the gutters.

Councilman Bennett stated that on account of the loss of an ordinance, one block of Jarrett street, in Mechanicsburg, would not be built. The residents wanted the improvement. The solicitor was asked what could be done. He replied that the property owners could go ahead and improve and trust the city to pass another ordinance, if the property owners did not want any delay.

A petition for crossings on Jefferson street between Eighteenth and Twenty-fifth streets was filed.

The matter of payment of storm water sewers on Jefferson street, Broadway and Kentucky avenue, was referred to the engineer and sewer committee.

The motion for the board of public works to build a brick culvert under Husbands street between Sixth and Fourth streets, where a fill is being made was adopted.

The motion to spread crushed stone on First street between Broadway and Jefferson street and if this be not sufficient, for the Illinois Central railroad to finish the work with gravel, was lost.

The committee was ordered to bring in an ordinance rearranging the office hours of the mayor. He is to be permitted to go and come at will.

Mayor Yeiser was instructed to advertise for bids for feed for city stock.

The city engineer was instructed to employ a bricklayer to supervise the brick work in sewer district No. 2, at a price not to exceed $5.50 per day.

Petitions for wooden sidewalks on Baumer's fill leading to the Washington school, and on Clements street leading to the McKinley school, were turned down.

On motion the board adjourned.

UNCLE JOE HAPPY OVER PROSPECTS

Says Republicans Will Win in His State.

Some Apathy Manifest Because People Are Busy, but Nothing Is Disturbing.

WHOLLY OPTIMISTIC VIEW.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—

"The Republicans of the Middle West are stepping high, I can tell you."

That was "Uncle Joe" Cannon's response to a question, inspired by a statement made by Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, this morning, that party spirit had disappeared this fall.

"If they are not stepping high," continued the speaker, "I don't know what you'd call it."

"Big meetings, much enthusiasm etc," the speaker was asked.

"Well, not such deep interest as I've seen in some campaigns," he replied. "In fact, some apathy has been apparent. The people are too busy with their daily occupations to pay a great deal of attention to politics, except over in New York, where from all I hear they are having a real campaign. But the general situation, from what I've observed during my tour, looks mighty good for the Republicans."

"How about the invasion of your own district by Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor?"

"Uncle Joe" smiled as he replied: "Why, the Republicans in my district are as good Republicans as I am. There are a great many workmen among them, but they are all used to walking under their own hats. In other words, they can do their own thinking and voting."

Money Situation Not Serious.

When the speaker's attention was called to interviews given out by Senator Spooner and other public men recently, declaring that congress must take up the subject of currency reform at its next session, he said, with just a touch of irony in his tone: "Why, I didn't discover any special sentiment of that character during my trip. The bankers' associations discuss the subject at their conventions, but they are usually divided as to the means of increasing the supply of money. I guess the situation is not serious."

RUINED

BY GRAIN DEALERS AND RAILROADS OF STATE.

Witness Weeps as He Recites Wrong Done Him By Combination in Illinois.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Testimony was heard today before three members of the Interstate commerce commission relative to the possible existence of a grain trust.

The first witness was A. T. Aygarn, of Pontiac, Ill., who told of his struggle against the Illinois Grain Dealers' association. Aygarn broke into tears while on the stand, and it was necessary to excuse him from giving further evidence. He declared as he left the stand, tears streaming down his face, and his voice broken by his grief, that he had been fined because he had dared to deal with the farmer and with the track shovellers. He declared that the discrimination against him had been doubled because the railroads had refused to give him cars in which to transport his grain.

Because the firm declined to obey the expressed wishes of the Illinois association all the members of that organization, it was said, had refused to do any business with it.

Witness Aygarn, when he had recovered his composure, resumed the stand. He said that he had sold $10,000 invested in his business, but that has disappeared, and he is many thousands of dollars behind. He has a crippled child and a wife to support, he declared, and all his troubles followed his attempt to aid a friend who was a farmer, by purchasing his grain.

CAMPAIGN ROORBACKS.

While the season for campaign
roorbacks is open, it is hardly creditable to the acumen of any politician
to start one so long before election.
But, nevertheless, Dave Cross' friends are getting into the field early, and here is the first "bag" of the season:
They are telling on the street that Mayor Yeiser and two prominent Republicans "engineered" the nomination of Judge Bagby, who is to resign immediately on his election, and then Mayor Yeiser is to appoint E. H. Puryear. Most everybody knows that the nomination of Judge Bagby was not "engineered," and so, little attention need be paid to the story save for two features. The statement presupposes two things. One of them is that Dave Cross' friends believe Judge Bagby will be elected, and the other is, that the Republicans might have been satisfied with the nomination of Judge Puryear, indicating that all they desire is a safe, unpledged man
on the police court bench.

The basis on which this fine spun yarn is built is true enough, but Judge Bagby will not resign, his nomination was not "engineered," and Mayor Yeiser's efforts to set the Democratic party right in the selection of a man to head the ticket, was confined to his appointment of Judge Puryear
for the short term.

Sam Jones is dead. Sam Jones, he
of the homely figure of speech, of the illuminating slang—he, who lacked dignity, if you will, was guilty of vulgarities, inexcusable in any other—but he by whom the common idioms of the street were used to tell the truth, and he, who employed the very signs and portents of sin for the unusual but laudable purpose of shaming the devil, is almost. Many ministers there were who did not admire Sam Jones,
many of us were frequently shocked
by his lack of delicacy. Some of us were positive that he was "out for the money." But this we do know:

His style was crisp, he spoke the truth, his figures were telling, his wit was keen and his like is not anywhere. Sam Jones was a caricaturist. He did not paint beautiful studies in still life with background dashed in. His whimsical fancy drew sharp outlines, exaggerating characteristic features with a mockery that was individual, but with a clearness of perception that left no doubt as to his meaning and with a power that never failed to convince.
Sam Jones is dead and gone before that tribunal that at last must judge
the honesty of our life's work; and if some good people here on earth feel that he was a disgrace to the cloth, the powers of evil will join them in their rejoicing; for, assuredly, Sam Jones was no friend of the evil one.

In these days of horseless carriages,
boneless hams, chainless bicycles,
painless dentistry, seedless oranges
and moneyless campaigns, it is only in keeping that somebody should invent an odorless limburger cheese. A Wisconsin man has done this, and adds that the present smell is occasioned by dirt. If this is so, and he eradicates the odor by removing the dirt, we fear that he will strike at the very essence of the limburger industry; for the Teutonic delicacy tastes very like it smells, and we rather suspect that both senses are stimulated and gratified by the same element in the composition of the cheese.

Advertising agencies and matrimonial bureaus are managed to some extent along the same lines. It is all well enough to boast about circulation and beauty of form, but figures are what count in both instances.
Newspapers have to deal principally with Missourians. Some newspapers assert that they have the largest circulation. Others publish figures and swear to them. The Sun belongs to the latter class.

Maxim Gorky has sailed for Europe
and promises to tell his impressions of America at a later date. One of his impressions, we believe, is that of a New York hotel manager's boot,
when it was discovered that the absent minded revolutionist had brought some other man's wife to America.

It is publicly proclaimed that young
Mr. and Mrs. Fairbanks are forgiven and the bride has been parentally kissed by the vice-president, but this is no basis for the conclusion that the young woman was not coldly received by the Fairbanks family.

INSOLVENT DEBTORS.

Federal Prisoners Released From Jail Sentence.

Walter Greer and W. H. Traylor, of Graves county, are happy men today because they are out of jail
after six months' confinement. Traylor and Greer in April were convicted of selling liquor without a license.
On April 16 they began their sentence of six months in county jail with a fine of $100 hanging over them. They were model prisoners and this morning Wade Brown, deputy marshal, took them before Commissioner W. A. Gardner and they took the insolvent debtor's oath.
This released them from the fine, but it is customary to serve out thirty days on the fine. Commissioner Gardner informed them that this would not be necessary, the government having decided to reward them slightly for their good behavior.

AT 5 O'CLOCK.

Machinists Quit Work Now in Illinois Central Shops.

An order affecting over 100 employees of the local Illinois Central shops went into effect yesterday afternoon when the shop whistle blew a "hands down" signal at 5 o'clock. Every machinist in the locomotive department dropped his tools and made for the wash room.
Yesterday an order was posted cutting the working day one hour, releasing the men from duty at 5 o'clock instead of 6 as heretofore.
The freight car department and planing mill will run ten hours. The cut was made because work in the machine shops is not so plentiful. A cut in the wood-working department is expected next month.

ance company, the defendant paid
into court the balance of the money
due on the policy issued on $102.

The case of James P. Parker against Thomas Crick was dismissed
and settled.

There were a few orders of a minor nature, and court was adjourned before 11 o'clock.

Suits Filed.

F. G. Rudolph, administrator of Catharine Hessig, sues H. T. Hessig, et al., for a settlement of the estate.
He asks the matter be referred to the master commissioner for certain divisions.

J. M. Griggs against the Paducah Traction company for $1,000. He alleges that on Broadway October 4, he boarded a car and before he was seated the car started and he had to hold on to keep from falling. The car was quickly stopped and he was thrown violently against the side and his face injured.

Sued in Federal Court.

marshal, returned this morning
from his farm in Ballard county,
where he had been since Sunday morning and filed the returns on summons executed Saturday night between 10 and 11 o'clock. The

CURED OF AGORAPHOBIA.

Patient Got Better When His Daughter Ran Away With a Man.

London, Oct. 16.—The Lancet publishes a description by Dr. Mercer, a famous physician on mental diseases,
of how a patient was cured of agora-phobia, a rare disease which is accidentally cured. It is a nerve disease of the cities. The subject craves to be near some tall vertical structure.
When away from such a structure he has a feeling of dread of impending danger in going to and from his office.

The patient treated by Dr. Mercer would sneak through all the alleys, courts and narrow streets he could use. When he came to a wide street he was seized with a reasonless panic and had to take a bus. If it were not very wide he might get through by holding on to a cart.
Bridges were quite impassable to him. If he were compelled to go over a bridge he had to get into a bus
some time before he reached it and keep his eyes shut while he crossed.

New York, Oct. 16.—While 20
passengers on the steamer Grenada which arrived from Trinidad today were eating their breakfast last Saturday, the Grenada's crew were struggling with a threatening fire in the steamer's hold. It was not until after the fire had been subdued that the passengers were permitted to know of the danger which had threatened them.

CYCLONE DEVASTATES SICILY.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 16.—A terrible accident accompanied by a great loss of life and injury to many occurred yesterday. A Russian passenger train was taken from the wreckage and 30 persons, suffering from severe injuries, were dug out. A head-on collision between a passenger and a freight train caused the disaster.
The passenger train was almost demolished. Practically all the passengers were buried under the wreckage.
Fire broke out and several deaths
were due to the flames.

Messina, Sicily, Oct. 16.—Enormous damage was done this city by a cyclone which swept over the island yesterday. Shipping in the harbor was damaged. One vessel was sunk

ed, but no definite figures can be given

The gauge registered a stage of 13.0 this morning, a fall of 1.6 in the last 24 hours. The wharf was unusually quiet this morning.

The Sprague passed up last night
with a tow of 54 empties for Pittsburg from New Orleans. This is one of the big tows of the year. A pilot's ability is tested searchingly
by a tow that size, for it takes accurate calculation to go round one of the sharp curves in the river with such a big tow.

The coal fleets and wharfs around Paducah now probably are the most extensive single factors in the river business here. The tie business would be a close second. The St.
Bernard, West Kentucky and Pittsburg coal companies have wharves
and numerous boats and barges.
While the St. Bernard company receives no coal by river, it maintains tobacco and wharfs. The coal is received by rail to the coal tipple on the river bank above Mechanicsburg and then unloaded into barges and towed down to the foot of Kentucky avenue. This coal is used exclusivly for boats. The Pittsburg coal company gets all its coal by river, as does the West Kentucky coal company. At the Pittsburg wharf the coal is unloaded by a steam shovel
and dropped through a "hopper,"
which separates the different sizes,
nut, lump and egg.

The Dick Fowler had a small trip
to Cairo this morning.
The Danbar was the Evansville packet today. The Joe Fowler is receiving a new coat of paint, the smoke stacks are being overhauled and other small repairs are being made in preparation to starting out again in the Evansville trade.

The Clyde is in from the Tennessee river and will leave Wednesday evening on the return trip. The Clyde is now at Joppa.
If the demand was sufficiently large a profitable business in building gasoline and other small pleasure boats could be built up here.
Captain Taylor is having a gasoline boat built at the dry docks, which is as graceful looking as any made in the north.

Wednesday is the day set for the Georgia Lee to leave Memphis for Cincinnati. At present the water is all right.
A Morgantown, Ky. dispatch of Friday says: "Mrs. Ollie Willis has filed suit in the circuit court here
against the Evansville and Bowling Green Packet company who operate
a line of packets on Green and Bar-ren rivers and Capt. J. H. Williams for heavy damages. She claims in her petition that while a passenger on one of the company's boats Capt.
Williams and some others of his crew tried to assault her. The case

An Evansville telegram says: "The pilot on the steamer Joe B. Williams that passed here today for Louisville with forty pieces lost control of the wheel while a stiff gale was blowing, and the towboat and tow
were in danger of being wrecked,
when the tug Frances went to the rescue of the boat and assisted her around the high bend above the city."

Official Forecasts.

The Ohio at Evansville and Mt.
Vernon not much change during the next 24 to 36 hours. At Paducah and Cairo will continue falling during the next several days. The fall at Cairo during the next 12 hours will amount to about 1.5 feet.

below St. Louis to below Cairo, will

COURT FINES BRIDGE HOSTESS.

She Pleads Guilty to Conducting a Game of Chance.

Beaver Falls, Pa. Oct. 16.—Mrs.
J. L. Harsha, one of the most prominent women of this city was fined $5
and costs Saturday by Justice of the Peace Henry L. Shuster for conducting a game of chance. The action was brought by Mrs. James Bronson under the act of March 1890, which prohibits gambling. Mrs. Bronson took action because her daughter,
a girl of 18, was spending too much of her time at card parties. Several nights ago Mrs. Harsha gave a bridge party and Miss Bronson was one of the guests. The party did not break up until late in the morning. Mrs.
Bronson declared that her daughter spends so much of her time at card parties that it is impossible to get her to do anything else. Mrs. Harsha pleaded guilty at the suggestion of her attorneys and paid the fine. The only thing she said in the way of defense was: "Miss Bronson didn't win."

Shell Exploded.
Cincinnati, Oct. 16.—Henry Oesfeld, aged 42, an actor connected with the German Stock company, which opened its season in Cincinnati last Sunday, was terribly injured by the explosion of a hundred-pound Hotchkiss rapid fire gun shell in his room at 1425 Brenan street last night.

Oesfeld had the shell as a souvenir of the Spanish-American war and carried it in his baggage. Wishing to hang some pictures in his room, Oesfeld looked for a hammer to drive the nails. He was unable to find one and picked up the shell as the heaviest article at hand.

FREE TRADE FAILS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Big Bill Country Pays For Fifty Years' Trial.

Tariff Reform League Carries on a Campaign of Education on the Subject.

SENTIMENT GROWS STEADILY

London, Oct. 15.—The tariff reformers of Great Britain, the protectionists—although they do not like that name—have headquarters and a staff of clerks at work in Victoria street, between Westminster Abbey and the American embassy. They are carrying on an aggressive and an effective campaign of education, distributing tons of literature, including millions of taking cartoons, arranging for lectures and mass meetings, organizing clubs and sending missionaries into every county—indeed, into every parish of England. The Tariff Reform league, as the organization is called, has branches in all the principal towns, in charge of experienced politicians, with several hundred good talkers constantly in the field speaking in public halls, from the platforms on the village greens and in the clubrooms. Hundreds of meetings are held every night, although there is no campaign on and there may not be an election for several years. This is an educational propaganda to convert the people from the traditional free trade idea to the new gospel of protected industries as proclaimed by Joseph Chamberlain.

John R. Cousins, the secretary of the league, tells that those who are directing the movement are much encouraged. "One of the healthy signs," he says, "is that we can get crowded meetings on this subject everywhere at all times, and when the speakers are talking they are listened to with careful attention. This shows that the people are actually interested in the subject."

"Tariff reform is a permanent issue," said Mr. Cousins, "and it has been adopted by the unionist party as the chief plank in its platform."

"There is a small factional opposition, which is dying out. It is composed chiefly of individuals with personal interests at stake, and it is not a matter of principle with them. They do not act upon the merits of the case."

"There has never been a square vote on that issue—not since 1846, when the repeal of the corn laws was agitated. That was a manufacturers' movement for free trade and it won. The majority was so large that free trade was adopted as a permanent policy of the government for 50 years. We have now had 50 years of experience, which has shown free trade to be a failure. It has not kept down the cost of living; it has not increased the wages of workmen; it has not been regarded as an inducement by other nations to buy British goods or give us preferential advantages in their market. They have given us nothing in return. We now import an enormous quantity of merchandise, which should be produced on this island. Here is the bill we had to pay to other nations during the year 1905:

For food products.....£222,000,000
For raw materials.....188,000,000
For manufactured merchandise.....142,500,000

Total.....£562,500,000
"All the other civilized countries of the world are protectionists except Turkey and China. England is imposed upon by the rest of the universe and is the only market where highly protected manufacturers can dump their goods and compete with domestic producers upon even terms. The manufacturers of every nation therefore have a very great advantage over us. We give them a free market for their goods. They impose heavy duties upon our goods. Germany is our worst competitor. All England is flooded with cheap German goods. In dealing with the protected countries of the world we are constantly increasing our purchases of manufactured merchandise and decreasing our purchases of raw material. We are selling less finished articles than formerly and more partly manufactured goods. In that case we lose the profit on both. Foreign manufacturers are selling their goods in England at lower rates than they charge at home in order to underbid our own people. They send us their surplus stocks and dispose of them for what they can get because there is no duty to pay.

"Our tariff," continues Mr. Cousins, "is based upon revenue only. The necessities of life only are taxed. Our principal revenue comes from tea, which has been taxed six pence a pound, but will be admitted for free after November. Coffee, sugar, tobacco, spirits, gunpowder, cocoa, currants, perfumery and books are the principal objects of taxation. We raise between £14,000,000 and £15,000,000 on foodstuffs, £8,250,000 on tea, £6,000,000 on sugar, £13,000,000 on tobacco and £1,250,000 on wine. The present policy of the government is to place the highest tax upon the articles we cannot produce, which compels the consumer to bear the entire burden. Mr. Chamberlain and his followers propose to take the tax off noncompeting articles, so as to make the producer pay the duty or keep out of the market."

INSPECTION

OF LINES OF ILLINOIS CENTRAL SOON TO BE MADE.

Local Shops and Terminals Always Receive Excellency Mark From Officials.

The local Illinois Central shops and other properties, including the freight houses, depot, terminals and yards have received for years an excellency mark. In addition the gardens and lawns have been pronounced the best on the division, ranking with the prettiest on the system. Each year local employees strive to do better and a month before the annual inspection they have begun to clean up and put the property in the best of condition.

The annual inspection bulletin reached Paducah this morning. It reads that the annual inspection of property will be held beginning this morning. The train will leave Chicago for the western divisions on October 22. It will then proceed south and will probably not come to Paducah until the New Orleans inspection is made.

This is the annual inspection made by the division officials from each division on the road. Supt. A. H. Egan, Roadmaster F. L. Thompson, Trainmaster L. E. McCabe and Supervisors W. C. Waggener and William McNamara will go from the Louisville division. The best mile of track, decided annually by this body of officials, has for years come to the Louisville district a few miles out of Louisville. Track Supervisor McNamara is after it again this season.

An Obtuse Servant.

Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, the highest Catholic prelate in America, has a keen sense of humor. Recently he was the guest of a layman friend, Frank Murphy, in Roland park, Baltimore's most beautiful residence suburb. In the Murphy home is a butler of Mrs. Partingtonian proclivities, and on the church dignitary's former informal visits to the Murphy home its mistress had been under the necessity of reminding the obtuse servant that the distinguished guest was to be addressed always as "your eminence."

"On the present occasion, when the cardinal rang the bell the man of impassive countenance answered, received the cardinal and turning around to Mrs. Murphy, "Please mum your remanants has come."

No one enjoyed the joke more hugely or laughed more heartily at it than did the genial cardinal himself.—Exchange.

STEAMER KENTUCKY MYSTERY REVIVED

Clerk Virgil Holcombe Secretly Indicted.

Rudy Ingram Decides to Bolt Before
Jail Is Reached But Changes
His Mind.

HUME OGILVIE'S READY GUN

Virgil Holcombe was arrested late yesterday afternoon in Murray & Wathen's pool room on North Fourth street by Deputy Sheriff Gus Rogers on a bench warrant issued from the circuit court. He is charged the second time with stealing money from the cash drawer on the steamer Kentucky last spring. He was locked up in jail.

Holcombe and Robie Reynolds were presented on this charge last spring in the police court and came clear. Holcombe had been second clerk on the boat and Reynolds was conspicuous about the craft, his father being an engineer on it. The money is alleged to have been taken by persons who used a skiff during the night to board the boat. About $900 is the amount missed. The grand jury took the matter up after the dismissal in the examining court.

Prisoner Halted.

Rudy Ingram, colored, charged with representing himself as William Deal, a railroad employee, and securing $16 worth of groceries from John Ward at Eleven and Caldwell streets, made a bold dash for liberty at the county jail yesterday but was stopped by Deputy Sheriff Hume Ogilvie.

Ingram was taken from the city hall to the county jail by Patrolmen Hurley and Senser yesterday afternoon. Deputy Jailer Murray Howie received the prisoner in the yard and started up the jail steps. Ingram jumped off and ran.

Deputy Sheriff Hume Ogilvie was sitting in front of the jail when the dash was made. His pistol was brought into play and when Ingram saw the deputy sheriff meant business, stopped. He had gone but 100 feet.

Deputy Jailer Murray Howie was not idle, but did not realize how near he came to getting shot until Ingram was within his grasp. Howie had followed the negro and was between the escaping prisoner and Deputy Sheriff Ogilvie's pistol. He grasped the negro just as the latter turned. Howie has been off duty on account of illness and was without his gun at the time.

Pusky.

"Pusky" is a new soda water found drink at Eufaula, Okla. Pusky was invented by the Creek Indians. Corn that is just hard enough to shell is heated in a pot until it is brown. Then it is broken in a mortar into a fine powder. "Mixed with sweet milk or with carbonated water and syrups 'pusky,' says an enthusiastic local paper, "is a drink that makes a man carry his wife around in his arms just for the exercise."

An Appletree Freak.

A curious freak of nature is reported in Jacksonwald, Pa. From the side of an old apple tree grows a big red apple. Last spring the tenant noticed a small bud, which he did not disturb. Presently a small apple formed, and today it is perfect in shape and very large. Farmers declare that they never saw an apple grow out of the bark before and many persons have driven miles to see it.—New York Tribune.
